

WORKPLACE EMPLOYMENT RIGHTS

If you're a worker under 18, the California Labor Commissioner would like to remind you that there are labor laws to protect you in the workplace.

- You are entitled to earn at least the minimum wage and
- be provided a meal and rest period depending on the amount of time that you work.
- And remember, you must check with your school to obtain a worker's permit.

For more information, visit www.youngworkers.org.